Grants Management Pain Points

leavy reliance on manual processes

Redundant submission & review of information

Inefficient process for tracking required documentation

No risk-based audit/review process

Data needed to report out to executive level not easily accessible

Program integrity response reactive rather than proactive

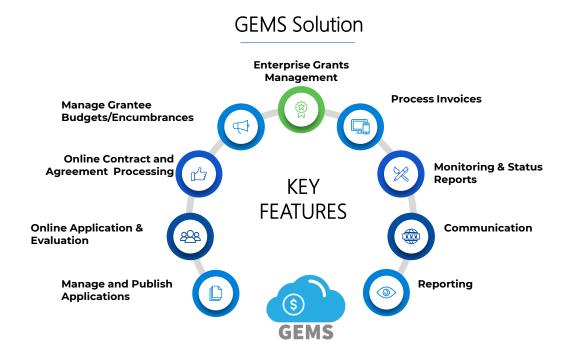

Lack of clarity and frequent changes in requirements from oversight agencies not aligned with system update schedule

Continous changes in procedures and policies

Required forms change frequently; however, timely updates not always available

Each agency has unique forms related to their programs.
